Wipido officially launched its new services!

Rotterdam, November 12th, 2007

As the leading platform in skill-based gaming, Wipido officially launched its new services. With the introduction of a variety of new features, such as the Wipido Community with a flexible (embedded) video player, Wipido wants to conquer the gaming scene.

On the 16th of November 2007 a well known female gamer, Aurora'Angel, will kick off the Wipido Matchzone by challenging gamers in a freeroll match of Enemy Territory - Quake Wars. Everybody can join for free, and try to win that prizemoney of €250.

"Our platform is different from the old services like Tournament.Com and UltimateArena", says Eric-Paul Scholten, co-founder and CEO of Wipido. "Our gamers have the control over the Wipido Matchzone without having to install any kind of software!"

CTO Erik Bakker adds: "We try to keep our solutions flexible. With the embedded wipidoTV videoplayer clans and individual players can use our service to host videos and show them on their own website. The Gamertag is an easy way to link to your Wipido account and encourage other people to challenge you."

With twenty-one games supported, freeroll matches, promotions and no hidden fees*, Wipido will be the community for all gamers who are seeking for the next level.

 Differently from competitors, Wipido doesn't ask a fee to join or create a match. A small percentage of the total prize is only subtracted when the match was completed succesfully.*
